Lead follow-up: one-page checklist

For owner-run service businesses. Do steps 1 to 5 this week, before you automate anything.

This week

- [ ] List every place leads come in. Website form, phone, text, Facebook, Google, email, referrals.
- [ ] Check your reply time. Look at your last 10 leads. How long did each wait for a first reply?
- [ ] Write your first reply. Three short sentences: thank them, confirm what they need, give one next step.
- [ ] Write two follow-ups. A short nudge 2 days later and a final check-in 5 days later.
- [ ] Choose one place to track leads. Even a shared list beats memory.

What good follow-up does

1. Replies to every new lead within minutes, day or night
2. Keeps all leads in one list
3. Follows up on a schedule, then stops and marks the lead "no response"
4. Stops the moment the lead replies
5. Gives you a weekly summary: leads in, booked, still waiting

You keep doing yourself

- Answering real questions about the job
- Quoting and pricing
- Anything unusual, urgent or sensitive
- The conversation once a lead is ready to talk

Before you choose a tool or a helper

- [ ] Who will write the messages and maintain the rules?
- [ ] Does it work with the inbox, texts and calendar I already use?
- [ ] What does the full monthly price include, and are texts or email extra?
- [ ] What do I keep if I stop?
